

THE KEYS, MAN! — Harry Daggett, left, City Engineer of Albany, hands the keys to the new police building to Chief Lloyd Jester in this picture taken in 1939. The then 1 new building stood on the corner of Washington and San Pablo and occupied the property that held the bird aviary on the old Fire Department land. According to Chief Jester, the building was an old home that stood where the present Albany High School gymnasium now stands. The building was to be torn down to make room for the gym but with the aid of Jack O'Leary, Chief Jester talked the Board of Education into letting the City have it for a police building and office. The pair raised money and had the building moved to Washington and San Pablo and refurbished into a first class Police station. The pair "conceded" the old WPA (Work Progress Administration) into helping and got volunteers to work on the project. When completed, the building was the headquarters for Albany's Police Department until the move into the old City Hall on Solano in 1950. O'Leary was street superintendent at the time and was given all the credit for the project by Chief Jester, but was never recognized for his efforts by the City as a whole.

Benefits for old set out

ALBANY — Federal income tax benefits for older Californians are among the most popular of all tax breaks, according to Michael Sassi, IRS director for Northern California. There actually are several tax breaks for persons 65 and up. Single people 65 and over are not required to file at all unless their income for 1978 was at least $1,700. For married couples filing joint returns the limit is $2,200, if both are at least 65. For those who do file, there's an extra $750 exemption, over and above the regular $750 personal exemption to which each taxpayer is entitled. A couple with both members gets an automatic reduction to income of $3,000 through their personal exemptions. Another way for American elders to reduce their taxes is through the "Tax Credit for the Elderly." The credit can reduce their income taxes by as much as $75 for singles and $150 for married couples. To qualify for the credit, you need to be a U.S. citizen and have taxable income from any source. It is also possible to qualify if you are 65, provided you are blind and receiving taxable retirement income, such as from the federal government or from a pension system. The IRS will help in computing the credit if you supply a filled-in Schedule R or with your Form 1040. You cannot file the Form 1040 and receive the credit. Much of the income received in retirement years is completely free from federal income tax, including social security payments. Railroad retirement benefits also are nontaxable. St. Paddy day in the Bay Area

ALBANY — "Green Fever" strikes the Bay Area this weekend, with snakes, people, and parades slithering about the bay, full of the happy spirit of St. Patrick. Eighty snakes, representing non-profit organizations, will meet head-to-head Friday in downtown San Francisco for the 12th annual St. Patrick's Day Snake Race. The run begins at noon at Market and Sansome Streets. The El Cerrito Montessori school has a snake entered, as does the Berkeley Community Chorus and Orchestra. The organizations are competing for cash prizes and air time on KABL Radio worth more than $3,500.

The first parade of the weekend bursts forth Saturday at 11 a.m., from Lake Merritt's Lakeside Park, down Broadway to Jack London Square. The 240 unit collection will pass Grand Marshal Ed Daly of World Airways, and the rest of the reviewing stand at Oakland City Hall.

The eve of St. Patrick's Day will find the Galleria, 101 Kansas Street in San Francisco, packed with disco dancers beginning at 8:00. Tickets are $10, and all proceeds go to the Archdiocesan Communications Center services for the elderly, including the Television Mass. Dr. Don Rose, morning disc jockey at KFRC, will be featured.

Celebrants will honor Ireland's patron saint at 9:45 mass Sunday morning in St. Patrick's Church, 756 Mission Street in San Francisco.

The annual St. Patrick's Day parade will begin Sunday at 12:30 at the corner of Market and Second Streets. The 260 unit lineup includes entries from Nevada and Washington as well as Northern California.

READY FOR ACTION — This picture, taken in 1942, shows Albany's first line of defense during the years of World War II. The Albany Civil Defense assembled on the old Marin School grounds for an inspection by Chief Lloyd Jester, head of Albany Police Department and organizer of the model Civil Defense program that was copied throughout the state by large and small cities. The entire Albany Civil Defense contingent was lined up for this occasion and took in everyone from the block warden to the top echelon, of which Jack O'Leary played a large part, according to the former chief. Albany was called upon to show

Rummage sale in offing by historicals

ALBANY — The Albany Historical Society will hold a rummage sale on Saturday, March 24, to raise funds for duplicating old pictures to be catalogued for Albany Library use. The sale runs from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the YMCA, 921 Kains Avenue. Donations for the sale may be left at the Albany Firehouse.

The Historical Society advises that while assembling saleable items, people should be on the lookout for old programs, clippings, scrap books and other materials that could be marketed for and used by the Historical Library. Volunteers are needed to help with the cataloguing work which will follow the sale. Material being catalogued for the Historical Library may be requested from the Albany Library duplicate catalogue. Persons who have knowledge about restoring old photographs would be especially helpful.

Many people think of historical material being associated only with persons who are well known. However, many times researchers find important links in some simple item such as the program for a Cornell School student performance. A list of names would indicate to researchers that the family lived in Albany at that time.

He now competes for a four-year scholarship of a total of $4,000, according to David B. Stewart, Director of PGE's educational affairs. Finalist interviews are April 24 in San Francisco.

Santa Fe gets council ok for track removal

ALBANY — The City Council has approved an agreement for acquisition of the old Santa Fe Railway right-of-way, allowing for future expansion of the adjacent linear park that follows the BART right-of-way.

The council's unanimous vote Monday night authorizes acceptance of a quitclaim deed from Santa Fe and provides that the railroad company will pay the city $15,400 for removal of the tracks running along Masonic Avenue between the Berkeley and El Cerrito city limits.

City Administrator William Haden indicated that the city is seeking $42,000 from the Metropolitan Transportation Commission for bicycle paths along the linear park. The Santa Fe right-of-way runs about one mile from border to border, adjacent to and east of the BART linear park, adding about 50 to 75 feet of additional width.

Santa Fe is expected to abandon the operation of its line through five cities in the East Bay with approval recently received from the Interstate Commerce Commission.

However, council members instructed City Attorney Robert Zweben to explore any possible complications, including rumors that the railway land may actually be owned by others. The railroad holds an easement, not "in fee," and it is conveying the easement by quitting its claim to the land, according to Zweben.

The agreement also provides that the city will own the tracks and ties it removes from the paved city streets.

The city is also agreeing to waive its right to require Santa Fe to restore the streets and facilities affected by the removal of the tracks and ties.

Last time to signup for league

ALBANY — Final date for sign-ups for the 1979 Senior League of the Albany Little League is Saturday, March 24 from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Albany High School Cafeteria. It was announced yesterday by Gary Torres.

According to Torres, boys and girls who reach their thirteenth birthday by July 31 and will not become 16 until after Aug. 1, are eligible for play. Because of national regulations governing league boundaries, only those students living within the city limits of Albany are eligible for the leagues.

Players signing up for the first time must be accompanied by a parent or guardian and must bring their birth certificate or other proof of age. Proof of Albany residence also is required and must be presented at the time of signing up for play. A donation of $15 is requested to help defray league expenses.

Each year Albany Little League, with its many local business sponsors, provides an opportunity for over 300 Albany boys and girls to participate in the national pastime. The league officially is sanctioned by Little League and the local league has produced many fine high school and college players over the years.

Adult volunteers also are needed to help operate the league. Openings are available for coaches, field maintenance, umpires, snack booth helpers and safety officers. Those interested, and for additional information on sign-ups or other Little League activities, are requested to call Gary Torres, 526-3094.

The Agency said the largest group of living vets are those who served in World War II. These numbered 12,866,000 approximately. In November of 1978, their average age was just over 58 years.

Only 278 veterans of the Spanish-American War are alive, survivors of the 392,000 combatants in that turn-of-the-century conflict. Vietnam-era veterans totalled approximately 8,779,000 in November. Next in the standings are the 5,893,000 men and women who served in Korea.

Only around 653,000 veterans of World War I are still alive, out of the approximately 4,744,000 soldiers, sailors and airmen who took part in the "War to End All Wars." Their average age is 83.

New York ranks second to California, followed by Pennsylvania, Texas, Illinois, Ohio, and the other 54 states with veterans of American wars.

A claim was submitted to the Albany City Council Monday night by Patrick M. Griffin, 1555 Sonoma Avenue, Albany.

The claim is for Roto-Rooter Sewer Service payment in the amount of $35.75 and is dated December 11, 1978.

That is the day a crew from Albany's Department of Public Works was found, it is said, in the rear of Griffin's property rodding out his sewer line. The crew, called off the job, did not complete the rodding to remove the obstruction, hence the hiring of the Roto-Rooter people.

In his claim, Griffin states the "claim arises from the blockage of my sewer line by a City owned street tree on or about Dec. 7, 1978. The blockage occurred approximately five (5) feet into the City street, under the pavement."

Griffin stated in his claim that "the sewer blockage problem was brought to the attention of Mr. Wong and Mr. Guletz, both of the Albany Public Works Dept., on or about Dec. 7, 1978. Mr. Wong advised me that the City policy in these matters was for the City to repair damage to sewer lines and sidewalks when caused by the roots of City owned street trees. Mr. Guletz arranged for a City crew to repair the sewer blockage on Dec. 11, 1978, after I agreed to install a sewer "cleanout" at my own expense (approx. $150)."

"Although the City crew began work the morning of Dec. 11, 1978, they stopped work before completion after being visited by Councilman Louis George. Mr.

Wong informed me an hour after the crew left that the Council has called us off."

"Subsequently Roto-Rooter Sewer Service was called to complete the work."

Griffin said in his claim letter he had discussed "this matter several times with Mr. Guletz in an effort to resolve the matter short of filing this claim. On or about Feb. 16, 1979, Mr. Guletz informed me that he had finished researching the matter and could see no way of paying me the $35.75 but to file this claim."

Payment of Griffin's claim could be the start of another major conflict in Albany. There are hundreds of other property owners who have called the various sewer clean-out services to have roots rodded and have paid the bill without so much as a whimper.

The Griffin matter has been discussed at great length at the City Council meetings and has caused some bad feelings within the ranks of the City fathers. The mere fact the men were told to leave the Griffin property and not come back to finish the job is proof that there was no legitimate way the sewer could be rodded without digging up the major part of the line. The fact the Griffin property did not have a cleanout made it mandatory for the workers to dig up the area to find the line.

As a matter of record, by his own admission, Griffin came off at less expense than a great many other property owners. The sewer line had been dug up and exposed. What the charge would be if Roto-Rooter had to dig down and open the line prior to rodding is anyone's guess. It is evident the charge would be substantially more than $35.75.

The consensus of the Council is the claim is ill advised and should be borne by the property owner, in this case, Patrick M. Griffin.

The final gasp was when Dario Meniketti, one of the Griffin Clan, asked why the payment couldn't be made. Mayor Lewis M. Howell replied, "If we pay him what is to stop all the other persons who had to call on a plumber to clear their line to ask us to pay them. Every person should get the same treatment. What about the little old lady who had to pay several hun-

HOMETOWN NEWS

Last Wednesday evening, Colonel Lee's Mongolian B-B-Q was host to a gathering of civic and city dignitaries.

A newly established chain in Northern California, Colonel Lee's Albany branch, 1373 Solano, is the second in the Bay Area, the first having been opened in Mt. View a short time ago, according to David C. L. Yu, executive vice-president of Colonel Lee's Enterprises, Inc., headquartered in Encino in Southern California.

Setting a precedent for the area, Managers Jam and Melanie Wang have hired all Albany High School students as their help. Mike Teel and Carl Flynn provide over the barbecue pot while the waitresses all are from the school.

An "all you can eat" establishment, Colonel Lee's Mongolian B-B-Q features a long smorgasbord type counter where one selects meats and vegetables, places them in a bowl, selects and blends one's own sauce and hands it over to either Mike or Carl for cooking. The pair work over the steel topped barbecue and cook the vegetables and thinly sliced meats under ready to eat. That is all there is to it.

A small, but select wine list is available at popular prices. Colonel Lee's serves both luncheons and dinners.

The consensus of those attending, the group included Mayor and Mrs. Lewis M. Howell, Mr. and Mrs. Hal Denham, he is general manager of the Albany Chamber of Commerce; newly appointed City Clerk Jacqueline Bucholz and her deputy, Edith Rapella; Bob Guletz, director of Public Works; Mrs. Robert Luoma, wife of Councilman Robert Luoma; Fire Chief Mike Koepke; and a host of others, was food was good, the service excellent and the atmosphere most friendly. It warrants a return trip.

The music and drama departments of Albany High School are busy rehearsing for the forthcoming production of "Lil' Abner" March 22, 23 and 24 in the school auditorium.

The featured actors of the production include Sandy Flavin as Mammy Yokum; Noel Sardaella as Pappy Yokum; Steve Smith as Lil' Abner and Pam Denny as Daisy Mae. Also in the cast is a bassett hound by the name of Rocky, who, during rehearsals, has been accused of stealing scenes from the principals.

Tickets for all performances are available at the high school's main office, 603 Key Route Blvd., and are priced at $3 per person.

Word has been received that Loree Roper of Albany has been named to the Honor Roll at Oklahoma Christian College, Oklahoma City, Okla., for the fall trimester ending December, 1978.

Faith sets forth own beliefs

ALBANY — The effect of the Iranian turmoil of the past months on members of the Baha'i Faith is being felt strongly at home by members of the Albany Baha'i Assembly.
"Our Persian brothers and sisters are living under the constant threat of mass aggression and assault," says John Ives, chairman of the Albany Baha'is.
Because of the severe losses incurred by the Iranian Baha'is, the Baha'is of Albany will contribute to a special fund to help alleviate the suffering. Only Baha'is may give money to the Faith, so they are not asking for donations. Ives says the aim of the Albany Baha'is now to clear up misconceptions about the Faith.
The Baha'i Faith is the largest minority religion in Iran, with its roots in Islam. Though the Moslems don't recognize Baha'is as an independent religion, the Faith is a world-wide religion with international headquarters in Haifa, Israel.
Baha'is are required to stay out of politics and remain loyal to constituted authorities in the nations where they reside. There-

Playing principal roles in the large cast are Pam Denney as Daisy Mae, Steve Smith as Li'l Abner, Sandy Flavin as Mammy Yokum, Noel Sardalla as Pappy Yokum, Eric Petrel as Marryin' Sam and Andre Thomas as General Bullmoose. Molly McBride is Assistant to the Director for the production.
Tickets are now available during regular school hours at the high school office. Remaining tickets will be sold at the door of the performances. Admission is $3.00. All proceeds are used to defray the costs of production.
Ives states, they had no influence under the Shah, although some have achieved material success in business and govern-

New fishing pier open at Antioch

ANTIOCH — As the old Antioch Bridge came tumbling down last week, the state Wildlife Conservation Board approved a $300,000 project to convert the southerly end of the bridge to a fishing pier.

The 54-year-old bridge is on the San Joaquin River at Antioch in Contra Costa County. It is being demolished except for the footings, 19 of which will support precast concrete beams and deck sections for the 535-foot-long, 16-foot-wide fishing pier.

In addition to the outlay in Wildlife Conservation Board funds for the pier proper, the East Bay Regional Park District will obtain $125,000 from the state Department of Transportation and federal land and water conservation funds for an access road, parking area, restroom, landscaping and lighting.

Monthly census set here for next week

ALBANY — The U.S. Bureau of the Census will conduct its monthly survey on employment and unemployment in the Albany area next week.

In addition to the usual questions on current employment, the March survey will have questions on the work experience and income of household members last year and whether they have moved since March 1, 1975.

Households in Albany are part of the sample of 70,000 across the country scientifically selected to represent a cross section of all U.S. households, according to John E. Tharaldson, Director of the Census Bureau's regional office in Seattle.

Nursing home tips

ALBANY — A consumer's guide to nearly 90 nursing homes in Alameda County is available at the Department of Aging.

The directory is free to community groups, and includes information on rates and types of facilities and residents accepted for admission. Compiled with the help of more than 50 community volunteers, the 213-page book may be bought by individuals for $2.50.

Students vie for annual B of A awards

ALBANY — Albany High School and Peralta Community Colleges students begin competition this week for $462,000 in cash awards in Bank of America's two annual scholarship programs.

Some 300,000 graduating seniors from virtually every high school in California will compete for more than $345,000 in the Achievement Awards program, and more than 160,000 second-year students from California's 105 community colleges will vie for $117,000 in cash in the Community College Awards programs.

"Over the past three decades, the programs have grown considerably," said Lee Gomez, the bank's school awards officer. "This year, for instance, the bank increased the cash awards to assist the students with the rising costs of a college education."

Faculty committees in each high school are now selecting top students in four general study areas — fine arts, liberal arts, science, mathematics, and vocational arts. The individual school winners will compete March 28 with students from neighboring schools in semi-formal zone events. Some winners in Northern California will then advance to five regional finals and a shot at winning one of 20 first place awards of $2,000 each. Second and third place winners each garner $1,000 and $750 respectively. All others to make the finals receive $500 awards.

In the Community College Awards competition, faculty committees are selecting top students to represent their schools on four fields — business, science-engineering, social science-humanities, and technical-vocational. These students will meet March 20 in area events.

Winners in Northern California Community College awards competition — two in each of the four divisions — then move on to the finals April 25 in San Francisco. Finalists in each field there bank top awards of $2,500 each. Second place students win $1,500 each and third place winners get

$1,000. All other finalists receive $500 prizes.

"The two programs are designed to recognize and honor students whose scholarship, leadership and sense of civic responsibility show the most promise for future financial success and service to our society," Gomez said. "Scholastic ability is certainly a major factor in the selection of winners, but talent in school and community activities also is evaluated. We want to show student achievement on as broad a basis as possible."

This is the 31st year for the Achievement Awards and the 26th year for the Community College Awards.

9-year-old sets new jump rope record here

ALBANY — More and more people are running these days. But how many are jumping?

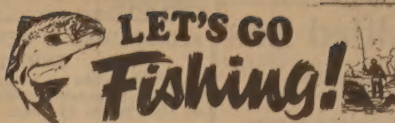

The Albany Parks and Recreation Department found out recently when it had its annual jump rope contest at the Albany Community Center. Penelope Lackey, nine years of age, leaped and hopped and spun her rope around 1,216 times in a row to win the contest. This is the most number of consecutive jumps ever recorded for the Albany Recreation Department Club.

Families sought

OAKLAND — The Emergency Foster Home system in Alameda County needs families willing to open their homes for the care of children 12-18 years old.

Payment for emergency foster home families ranges from $10 to $18 per day. Families provide a bed on an on-call basis for children who are abandoned, neglected, molested and in any other way abused.

Families must pass licensing requirements, and may call 874-6911 for more information.

LET'S GO Fishing!

By CAPT. DAVE KINLEY

Your editor has taken over the forepart of Capt. Dave's column to relate the tale of the six who went down to sea on the Evie K. last Saturday.

Pearl and Buckley Cranston, Keith Dennison, Merv Magidson, Lois Miller and your scribe chartered the Evie K., Capt. Dave in command, for a salmon fishing trip.

We left Berkeley at the ungodly hour of 6 a.m. and took a fast run to Duxbury Reef where it seems the ocean was paved with boats. Big boats, little boats and boats in distress were from one end of the horizon to the other. We joined the party.

We trooled on a flat, benign sea and the Pacific was just that, as calm as a cow chewing on its cud. We trooled, and we trooled, and we trooled, and we trooled. We caught shakers. As a matter of fact, this writer hung three of them, the largest going, maybe, 15 inches. No one on the boat lost a sinker and no one landed a keeper while out at Duxbury.

After several hours, Capt. Dave moved down off Muir Beach and then the action started. First Merv Magidson caught a nice 10-12 pound king. Right after that one hit Pearl Cranston's line and she had a lovely eight to nine pounder in the box. In the meantime the rest of the party just sat, sat and sat. Not even a shaker! In about another half hour, who catches the last fish? Pearl Cranston! She was the champion, getting two of the three keepers landed. In the meantime, the rest of the fleet was complaining about the shakers they were getting. We talked to one boat that had twenty odd persons aboard and had only seven fish, so the Evie K. didn't do too badly!

Lovely boat ride and very congenial company, so the group decided to do it again. Incidentally, the Evie K. is ideal for a six or eight person party as it is fast, comfortable and very seaworthy. Dave is a good skipper who knows his fishing holes, too.

Now to his report: San Pablo Bay sturgeon fishermen got a pleasant surprise by catching many big striped bass near the Pump House over the weekend. Local bass plugging enthusiasts scared with terrific catches of large stripers to 30 pounds casting from local shores on night time high tide. Half ounce Kastmaster jigs, Cordell Spot Plugs and Rebels all paying off good.

Trollers are catching limits of small bass during daylight hours. Hot spots are behind race track and Point Isabelle. Perch and flounders are slow but some fishermen are showing fair catches.

This week's tides should produce good striped fishing off Pinole Pier.

That's all for now. See you next week and happy catching.

Capt. Dave Kinley

Health planners sought

ALBANY — The Albany-Berkeley District Council is recruiting members for the coming year.

This council is part of the Alameda-Contra Costa Health Systems Agency which is the regional health planning body, responsible for health care services, facilities and personnel planning and coordination.

The purposes of the Health Systems Agency are to improve the health of the residents in the area; to increase accessibility, acceptability, continuity and quality of services; to restrain increases in the cost of providing services and to prevent unnecessary duplication of health resources.

The Health Systems Agency carries out its purposes with decision-making bodies which have a majority of consumers. Consumers have an impact on the planning process by presenting informed testimony and statements in public hearings. There are important roles for consumers on advisory councils and committees and as public monitors of Health Service Agency performance.

The Berkeley-Albany District Council has been meeting for eighteen months, reviewing the chapters of the Health Systems plan. They will be the major document for implementing health services and reviewing certificates of need and applications for health providers in this area.

The District Council meets once a month and members can be reimbursed for incurred costs such as child care. For further information, call Anne Chandler, chairman, 549-0748 or Kim duClair, vice-chairman, 843-8031.
